June Tomolak was a bit of a pioneer when she enrolled in the Indiana University School of Business after graduating from Riley High School in 1951. Very few women were pursuing business degrees back then. "Some professors were not too happy about having women in the class," June recalls. In some of her large seminar classes, she was the only woman. While at IU she joined the Alpha Gamma Delta sorority. She graduated in 1955, one of only 27 women in a class of more than 400. It was unusual enough for the Daily Student, IU's newspaper, to write an article noting that she was the top-ranked woman in the business class. She graduated magna cum laude. She soon was hired by the Studebaker Corp., where she worked in personnel management until the company closed in December 1963. She got a similar job at the Tribune, then worked in personnel at the University of Notre Dame, then at Saint Mary's College. June retired in 1995. She has fond memories of Studebaker, which she described as "a wonderful place to work . . . It was my dream job."

Scholarships available

Do you have a child or grandchild who will be graduating this year from a South Bend high school? The South Bend Alumni Association has scholarships available for those planning to continue their education in a college, university or trade school. We offer a $4,000 TCU/Superintendent's Scholarship to a graduating senior from each of South Bend's five public high schools — Adams, Clay, Riley, Rise Up and Washington. The scholarships are payable at the rate of $1,000 a year for four years. We also offer two specialty scholarships. SBAA board member Jack Champaigne underwrites the cost of a $5,000 scholarship for a graduating senior who plans to attend Purdue University, either in West Lafayette or at the South Bend campus. The South Bend Press Club underwrites the cost of a $500 scholarship for a student planning to pursue a degree in journalism or mass communications. For the Press Club Scholarship, the applicant must be graduating from a SBCSC high school, or be the son, daughter or grandchild of an SBAA member. Full details about the scholarships, along with application forms, can be found on our web site, www.southbendalumni.com. Deadline for applying is April 13.

Lunch Club February 2017

Barbara Rowe was one of the Lunch Club Lottery winners. She won a candy bar donated by the South Bend Chocolate Co.

Barbara Snyder, Adams '60, won a package of cherry-coated pretzels.

Lea Spencer, Wilson '50, won a package of malted milk balls in the raffle.

Dorothy Matthys Wilson '48, won the top prize in the 50/50 drawing at the February luncheon.

Lunch Club Lottery numbers for today are 30 and 60. The 30th and 60th members who made a reservation will receive a prize.

New advertiser, prize donor for the Lunch Club

This month we welcome a new advertiser to the Lunch Club Reporter — and a new door prize donor. Terry and Carol Meehan, owners of Fiddler’s Hearth and Tapastrie restaurants, have donated two $50 gift cards for Fiddler’s Hearth to be used as door prizes. In exchange, we will be running an ad for their two downtown restaurants. Fiddler’s Hearth is located at 127 N. Main Street. The menu features traditional Irish fare, and live entertainment is a delightful staple there. Fiddler’s Hearth is open for lunch and dinner, seven days a week. Tapastrie is located at 103 W. Colfax Avenue, in the Palais Royale. It specializes in tapas — small, savory Spanish dishes. It is open for dinner only, from Monday through Saturday. The two restaurants are distinctly different in their food and atmosphere, but both are wonderful places to dine. We hope you will try them.

We appreciate the Lunch Club members who donate prizes for our monthly raffle drawings. Last month, for example, featured a donation of wine from Renata Kazmierczak and a donation of cloth shopping bags from Janet Szabo. Other club members have donated prizes, and they add to the variety of items we can offer.

We lost another Lunch Club member with the passing on February 19 of Shirley Rosbrugh, Riley ’52. We offer our condolences to her husband, Dick, Riley ’51.

A look back . . .

A Future Scientists of America Club was formed at Adams High School during Jim Champaigne’s senior year there. At its first meeting, it split into four divisions, with Champaigne , Class of ’61, serving as president of the group devoted to astronomy, chemistry and physics. Other divisions were devoted to medical biology; cameras; and geology.

When not busy with scientific matters, Champaigne served as vice-president of the Hi-Y. Its platform promoted “clean living, clean speech, clean sportsmanship and clean scholarship.” The Hi-Ys, a boys only club, sponsored several events during Jim’s senior year, including “Swing Heart Sway” and “Adams Eve.” The Hi-Ys played a basketball game against the faculty, dubbed the Has Beens vs the Will Be’s. A sock-hop followed the game. On a more serious note, the club provided Christmas baskets for the community and sponsored a car wash to raise money. Its yearly Easter Assembly was described in the Album, Adams’ yearbook, as “very beautiful and inspiring.”
