Winter 2013-14

2013 was year of changes; 2014 looks exciting

Dear Alums,

As I write this letter, we are in the midst of the holiday season. It is an ideal time to reflect on the past year and look to the future. 2013 has been an exciting time for your South Bend Alumni Association. Since I started with the organization in June, a number of changes have helped us to be more effective in our mission.

In mid-July we moved our office from the fifth floor of the School Administration Building to the first floor. We previously had shared space with the South Bend Education Foundation. It was cramped quarters as we both worked diligently to support the South Bend Community School Corporation. Our move allowed the Education Foundation to expand into our space as they took on responsibility for the school mentoring program. Our new location provides us more office space – and more storage space to keep our collection of yearbooks and paraphernalia for Lunch Club and the annual golf outing. As part of the move, we were able to get new computers and office equipment. Locating on the first floor makes us more convenient for members and visitors to stop by, and we have access to a nearby conference room for committee meetings. We are grateful to Superintendent Carole Schmidt for making this new space available to us.

At our annual meeting in September, we restructured the Board of Trustees for the SBAA to align with our Articles of Incorporation. We moved from a board with thirty-six members that met twice a year to a smaller board of eighteen members that meets monthly. Board members will be actively engaged in committees to provide direction and support for Alumni Association initiatives. I want to say a special word of thanks to Ron Bella for his dedication to this organization since its founding. He, and key committed board members, established the core initiatives and set a solid foundation for continued growth and service. The revised board structure will ensure that the Alumni Association continues to provide valuable support for our children and our schools for many years into the future.

The Marketing Committee has been exceptionally productive this year. It took on the task of updating our materials. With their hard work we now have a revised logo and a new brochure that tells the story of our organization. The brochure was unveiled at the Community Hall of Fame Dinner in November. By including targeted inserts, we will be able to use this piece for a variety of projects.

We also have added functionality to our website. For the first time, guests could go online to order tickets for the Hall of Fame Dinner, and you can now renew your membership, or join the SBAA, at www.southbendalumni.com. These are a few of the highlights from 2013. You can read more about the success of our initiatives in other articles in the newsletter. It has been a great year, but we have much to do in 2014. The South Bend Alumni Association will remain passionate about supporting our public schools and giving our children every opportunity to develop their talents and to succeed not just in school, but in life.

I am grateful to the founding members of this organization who responded to a crisis and then created a vision for ongoing support for South Bend Community Schools; for the dedicated staff and board members who have brought that vision to life; and for all of you who help to sustain these efforts. May you and your families have a joy filled holiday and a blessed new year.

Hall of Fame honors community members

The South Bend Community Hall of Fame inducted several new members and honored other members of the community at a banquet on November 12 at Century Center. We set records with attendance and sponsorships. (See related story on Page 6.)

Inductees at the 27th annual banquet were:

The Lerman Family: The family, beginning with the late Nathan and Frances Lerman, has been influential in the business, religious and secular aspects of the South Bend area since the late 1940s, when Nathan Lerman founded Steel Warehouse. The company continues to thrive today under the leadership of the Lerman offspring, who have expanded their holdings to include Lock Joint Tube Co. Their companies are among the major employers in South Bend and have a long history of supporting community development and charity. The Lerman family is an active supporter of youth athletic programs, including major support and development of a vibrant youth hockey program. They have played leading roles in the restoration and revitalization of the Orthodox Jewish community, helping to create and sustain synagogues, schools and other institutions.

Frances and Nathan Lerman

Christopher and Carmi Murphy: Carmi and Chris Murphy have given their talents as volunteers to a broad section of institutions and causes in the South Bend area. Christopher Murphy III is chairman and CEO of 1st Source Bank, which is celebrating its 150th anniversary in 2013. They have always worked as a team, supporting each other in their individual commitments and often co-chairing or serving together in other endeavors. Carmi has served in leadership roles in the Junior League, Hospice, Boys & Girls Clubs, Child Abuse and Neglect Council, Stanley Clark School, Family & Children's Center, Logan Center, WNIT, Snite Museum Advisory Council, Studebaker National Museum, Memorial Hospital Foundation and the board of Saint Mary's College. She recently was elected to the Mount Vernon Advisory Board in Washington, D.C. Chris has served on the boards of Memorial Health Systems, the Medical Education Foundation, Innovation Park at Notre Dame, Family & Children's Center, Center for the Homeless, the Diocese of Fort Wayne-South Bend Financial Council and numerous others boards and organizations.

Alma Powell: Alma Powell retired in 2002 as director of curriculum and education for the Elkhart Community Schools after 34 years in the field of education. She was the first African-American woman to become a principal in the South Bend school corporation. The South Bend resident continues to serve as a consultant in leadership development and diversity. She has served as chair of the Board of Managers for the Indiana University Alumni Association. She serves on the national board of Learning Points Associates, an educational research organization, and was chairperson of IUSB's Natatorium Civil Rights Heritage Center campaign. She is a member of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, the IUSB Alumni Association board, and the Chancellor's Advisory Committee.

Franklin Schurz Jr.: Franklin Schurz is a former editor and publisher of the South Bend Tribune and former chairman and CEO of its parent company, Schurz Communications Inc. During the course of his long career in journalism, he also served as editor and publisher of the Morning Herald and the Daily Mail, both in Hagerstown, Md. He spent time in broadcast, working at stations in the East and Midwest. He has served in various national press organizations. In addition to his journalistic endeavors, he has been a member of the Indiana Endowment for Education Excellence; the South Bend Chamber of Commerce (past president); the Board of Regents of Saint Mary's College; the Advisory Board of IUSB; the Board of Visitors of IU's School of Public and Environmental Affairs; the Culver Education Foundation; the Advisory Council of the Notre Dame College of Arts and Letters; Board of Trustees of the Indiana Chapter of the Nature Conservancy (past chairman); and United Way of St. Joseph County (past campaign chairman).

Ray Snyder: Ray Snyder for many years has owned an auto repair shop on Portage Avenue. Described as “modest and unassuming,” he often would not charge customers who were having financial problems as he fixed their cars. Or he would work out a long-time payment schedule without charging interest. But his true love was providing opportunities for youngsters to engage in baseball, primarily through the Chet Waggoner Little League. He has spent countless hours and personal resources to make our national pastime accessible for new generations of young people. His devotion included organizing the league, umpiring and tending the fields and facilities.

Barbara Warner: Barbara Warner has been a benefactor of numerous institutions in the area, including IUSB; the St. Joseph County Community Foundation; Snite Museum of Art; the Boys & Girls Clubs; Center of Hospice & Palliative Care; South Bend Civic Theatre; South Bend Museum of Art; South Bend Symphony; the South Bend Education Foundation; and Logan Foundation. The Museum of Art has a gallery and rotunda named for her, while the Civic Theatre has the Barbara K. Warner Studio Theater. She supported the construction of the art gallery and renovations of the Administration Building at IUSB. She served for more than 30 years on the IUSB Chancellor’s Advisory Board. She received an Excellence in Philanthropy Award from the Northern Indiana Center for History

The historic inductee was the Elbel Family. The family arrived in South Bend in 1851 as immigrants from Germany. Timothy Howard, who wrote a history of St. Joseph County, said, “What the Olivers and Studebakers have been to the industrial life of South Bend, the Elbels have been to the musical life. They are a family of musicians, and in the early days made this city famous in the musical world.” The first generation included Lorenz Elbel and his sons Erhardt, John, Wolfgang, Christian and Henry. They carried on the musical legacy of the family well into the 20th Century. Lorenz founded the Elbel Band & Orchestra, which performed for decades. The next generation included Richard Elbel, who served as president of Elbel Brothers, Inc., founded in 1880 and closed in 1970. He served many years on the city’s Park Board, and Elbel Golf Course is named for him. Robert Elbel, secretary-treasurer of the business, wrote the University of Michigan’s fight song, “The Victors.” Fred Elbel, who died in August, was among the family members who were song writers and businessmen.

In addition to the new inductees, the Hall of Fame Committee presented awards to honor the achievements and contributions of several individuals and organizations. They are:

Ideal Baldoni Distinguished Public Service Award: Roland Chamblee Jr. Chamblee retired earlier this year after 23 years as a Superior Court judge, presiding over both criminal and civil cases. He founded and served as presiding judge for the county’s Drug Court Program, co-authoring grants for more than a half-million dollars to fund the court. He serves on the advisory committee for the African American Community Fund of the Community Foundation of St. Joseph County. He is a past board member of several local organizations, including the Community Corrections Advisory Board, REAL Services, The Boys & Girls Club, Legal Services Program of Northern Indiana and Memorial Hospital.

Contributions to Education Corporate Award: Faegre Baker Daniels law firm. The firm, founded in 1863, has had a steadfast commitment to supporting quality education in South Bend. It has been the legal counsel for more than 20 years to the South Bend Community School Corp. in an arrangement that includes discounted services and some services provided without charge. The law firm’s professionals and staff participate in the SBCSC’s Read to a Child mentoring program. The firm has been a long-time patron of the South Bend Education Foundation, and partner Rich Hill serves on the foundation’s board. FaegreBD is a close partner of Perley Primary Center, organizing hat, glove and school supply drives to benefit students and sponsoring an art contest.

Distinguished Community Service Award: 100 Black Men. The organization works with young black males, primarily teenagers, to mentor them and keep them focused on education. The national organization was founded in 1963 in New York City. In the fall of 2008, several community members met to discuss how to address problems facing African American males in South Bend, including graduation rates and the overall condition of the community. The national organization granted them a charter in June 2009 to formally create the 100 Black Men of Greater South Bend Inc. Its Four for the Future program emphasizes mentoring, health and wellness, education and economic development.

Distinguished Achievement Award:

Greg and Renate Crawford. Greg is dean of the College of Science and professor of physics at Notre Dame. Renate is director of Engagement for Academic Recruitment in the Enrollment Division at ND. For the past four years, Greg has biked across the country – a total of 11,200 miles – to raise money for and awareness of Niemann-Pick Type C, a rare disease. Renate has joined him on some of those rides. Together, the couple has organized and participated in Pink Zone Spin-a-Thon activities to raise funds for cancer research, awareness and services. This year, they joined the Notre Dame Chicago Club in a bike ride from Chicago to South Bend for the home-opener foot-

SBAA has restructured and set priorities for 2014

2013 has been a year of change for the South Bend Alumni Association, and 2014 is filled with promise. In June we welcomed Steve Luecke as our new executive director, and in September we restructured the Board of Directors with the inclusion of seven new members. Steve's letter on Page 1 highlights some of the changes.

Tim Baker

The former Board of Trustees is known now as the Board of Directors, consisting of eighteen members who meet monthly. At the board's December meeting, we approved a budget for the coming year and established the eight priorities for the year. (See accompanying box.)

The Hall of Fame Banquet was a huge success. The 2013 class was superior, and we set sponsorship fundraising records. We had over 500 attendees, and the Alumni message was delivered to all.

A main focus for 2014 will be the student grant program that always has been at the heart of our mission. A committee led by Dave Dunlap, Central '59, has revamped the grant program, and we hope to do a better job of promoting it in the schools during the coming months. We hope to become the place school programs can turn to when they need funds for extra- and co-curricular activities that do not receive tax dollars.

Another primary priority for 2014 will be to continue our marketing efforts to raise the SBAA profile. Jessica Brookshire, Adams '91, is chairman of our Marketing Committee.

With everything we have going on, we still value our members as our most important asset. If you are a member, we hope you will continue your support and perhaps pledge to become more involved. If you are not a member, we urge you to join the SBAA and help us with our mission, which is to enhance the school experience for SBCSC students by supporting the programs that enrich their school experience.

Getting ready for golf tournament

Board member Eric Crittendon has agreed to lead the committee for the 2014 TCU/Superintendent's Golf Tournament. We already have a date — May 14 — and a place — Elbel Golf Course. Eric has met with Susan Nufer, who co-chaired the Golf Committee with Bob Goodrich last year, and has some ideas for the 2014 tournament. If anyone would like to help out, contact Eric through the SBAA office.

Eric Crittendon

2014 Priorities

- ◆ Successful rollout of student grant program
- ◆ Continue marketing/rebranding efforts to raise SBAA profile
Meet or exceed 2013 golf outing revenue
- ◆ Ramp up fundraising/sponsorships to reach beyond golf and dinner events
- ◆ Review scholarship program and formalize process to include more committee involvement
- ◆ Determine next chairman, strengthen the committee structure and get new trustees actively engaged in committee work
- ◆ Redo Wall of Fame display in Century Center
- ◆ Develop strategy for 2015 membership initiative

Humnicky honored

Greg Humnicky, Central '64, received the Sam Wegner Award in March 2013 from the SBCSC Athletic Department.

Greg Humnicky

Greg was the athletic director at Clay High School from 1988-2008, when he retired. He serves on the Executive Board of the Indiana Basketball Hall of Fame, and is a member of the Board of Trustees of the South Bend Alumni Association.

DeBaets to be inducted

Tom DeBaets, LaSalle '68, will be inducted in March 2014 into the Indiana Basketball Hall of Fame. He played basketball at LaSalle and later served for 17 years as a coach at Clay, New Prairie and Riley high schools. He is a former member of the SBAA board.

Governance Committee

The SBAA Governance Committee, chaired by Paul Laskowski, worked diligently in 2013 to reorganize the Board of Directors, which was accomplished at the SBAA's annual meeting in September.

Paul Laskowski

Now it has turned its attention to revamping the bylaws. The goal is to clarify some of the language in the bylaws and to spell out more clearly organization's structure and mission.

Monthly Lunch Club allows friends to stay connected

The South Bend Alumni Association sponsors a luncheon on the second Thursday of each month, at The Landing. Alumni from all over St. Joseph County attend and enjoy a buffet lunch and entertainment by school groups, as well as door prizes and a 50/50 drawing. Attendees who are celebrating a birthday or anniversary in that month can win a cake, donated by Dainty Maid Bake Shop.

Bill Przybysz
Lunch Club
Chairman

We have taken a couple of casino trips and are planning a different kind of trip in 2014. The destination/activity is to be decided by those who attend the lunches. We coordinate these activities with Teachers Credit Union Travel.

Fun is had by all, visiting with former classmates and former students. All of those attending still show a great deal of pride in their alma maters, as we do a roll call of all schools, with enthusiastic responses. If you can, please join us. You won't regret it, and you will have a good time!

Scholarship Committee announces 2014 program

SBAA scholarship information for the coming year has been sent to guidance departments of the four SBCSC high schools. Connie Varga, Scholarship Committee chairman, said counselors have been asked to post fliers and to keep the SBAA scholarship opportunities in mind when speaking with students. We offer four $4,000 Superintendent's Scholarships—one in each of the high schools—as well as several $1,000 scholarships and grants, some for specific fields of study. Scholarship information is available on the Alumni web site and at all Lunch Club meetings. The deadline for submission of applications is Monday, April 14, 2014. Recipients of the four Superintendent's Scholarships will be recognized at the SBCSC's Celebration of Excellence in May. As most members know, the proceeds from the annual TCU/Superintendent's Golf Outing help to fund the scholarships. Supporting the golf outing supports the scholarships that are awarded to the youth of our community. Read more about our offerings and the criteria for each of the scholarships offered at the Alumni's web site, www.southbendalumni.com.

Grants are available to help student activities

The Alumni Association has money available to help pay for school activities that do not receive tax dollars. Dave Dunlap, chairman of the student activity grants committee, said the money can be used for co- and extra-curricular activities. Co-curricular activities are those outside of the regular curriculum, but for which students receive class credit, such as band. Extra-curricular activities are those outside of the regular curriculum that do not result in class credit, such as sports. The SBAA can help to buy equipment, uniforms, travel to out-of-towns contests and other things. In return, the students who benefit from the money are asked to perform community service. For more information, see the SBAA's web site or contact the office.

2013 Community Hall of Fame set records

The 2013 Hall of Fame banquet set records both in terms of attendance and sponsorships, announced Chairman

James Kapsa

James Kapsa. Some 530 people attended the banquet November 12 at Century Center as we inducted a stellar class of local citizens. (See story on Pages 2 -3.) We were introduced to Century Center's new caterer, Savor ...

South Bend, which presented us with a wonderful meal of composed salad in tuile, a chicken breast in carmelized shallot demi-glace, whipped potatoes and a special dessert known as croquet en bouche. The Clay High School Jazz Band, directed by Gary Kurtis, provided music for the social hour.

Plans already are underway for the 2014 banquet. We will be forming a Search Committee soon to begin the process of selecting the next class of nominees. If you would like to nominate someone, send a letter to the South Bend Alumni Association explaining why that person should be inducted. (More information about the induction process, along with a list of those already in the Hall, can be found on the SBAA web site.) The Search Committee will review the list of some 125 names that already have been submitted, and narrow the field to around 20 semi-finalists. Those names then go to a Selection Committee, which chooses the inductees. Their choices then are reviewed by an Oversight Committee. The goal is to have the 2014 inductees chosen by early summer.

A Word From Superintendent Carole Schmidt

Thank you to all members of the Alumni Association for your generous support of the students of the South Bend Community School Corporation.

I was honored to be a presenter at your annual Hall of Fame dinner, which recognized so many deserving community members. Without the grants and scholarship programs provided by the South Bend Alumni Association many of our students would not have access the array of wonderful opportunities available to them. Your support of our students and school district are vital so we may continue to fund student programs which the Corporation no longer has the resources to sustain.

Carole Schmidt

My best wishes in the new year.

Memory Lane

Bob Cebrat, a life member of the Alumni Association, now lives in Pembroke Pine, FL. He shared some memories of the 1950s:

- TV dinners
- Pocket transistor radios
- Saddle shoes
- Chuck-a boots
- Taper pants
- Free calendars from banks
- Christmas bank accounts
- Low divorce rate
- Truman beats Dewey
- Sugar Ray Robinson
- Monsters of the Midway
- Central High basketball champs
- Fender skirts.

In Memoriam

Thomas H. Metcalfe, 89, died August 7 at the Sanctuary at St. Paul's in South Bend. He started his teaching career at the former Centre Township School, where he started the school's sports program. Although he coached various sports, football was his passion. After leaving Centre School, he taught and coached at Hamilton Junior High School, then Jackson Middle School. He received the Sam Wegner Award for his contributions to South Bend athletics during a career than spanned 59 years. The Indiana Football Coaches Association awarded him a gold watch to honor his 50 years of coaching. He was inducted in 2005 into the IFCA Hall of Fame. He is survived by two daughters and six sons.

Lenny Rzeszewski, 90, Central '43, long-time teacher and coach in the South Bend schools, died November 7, at Hamilton Grove, New Carlisle.

Lenny was a member of the SBAA's Lunch Club which he attended with his wife, Louise, Central '43, and daughter, Barbara Ziolkowski, Riley '66. Lenny worked as a gym teacher at Riley High School, and later at LaSalle, where he coached basketball, baseball and cross country track. He played basketball at Central under legendary coach John Wooden, and later played at Indiana State University, again under Coach Wooden. Lenny was inducted into the Helms Foundation Hall of Fame for basketball.

James Borden, 85, Adams '47, died December 1 in Middlebury, VT. He was an artist who was inducted in 1994 into the South Bend Community Hall of Fame. A well-known portraitist in the 1960s and '70s, Jim painted many of South Bend's political leaders. He later turned his talents to landscapes and then to more abstract work. Several of his pieces are part of the permanent collection at the South Bend Museum of Art, and his work hangs in private homes around the country. In 1976 he did a portrait series of Abraham Lincoln, Robert E. Lee, Ulysses S. Grant, Sitting Bull and George Custer that was accepted by the U.S. Veterans Administration and presented at the White House. He continued painting until a week before he died. He is survived by a daughter and a son.

Leonard E. (Butch) Buczkowski, 80, died July 22 at Healthwin Specialized Care, South Bend. He retired in 1994 from the South Bend Community School Corporation, where he is was a teacher and coach. He was the baseball coach at Adams High School for 29 years. In 2007 he won the Sam Wegner Award for his contributions to sports. Butch was a member of the Indiana High School Coaches Association and was inducted into the Indiana Baseball Hall of Fame. He is survived by his wife, Charlotte, and two sons.

Did You Know?

The South Bend Alumni Association offers assistance for class reunions. We can post information about your event on our web site, and we can offer assistance with postage and printing of postcards, letters, fliers and even memory books. If you're interested, contact the Alumni office for a complete list of services and prices.
